

Assessment: Placement and Grouping

Introduction

This guide explains how to assess students for placement in Words Their Way<sup>TM</sup>: Word Study in Action. It describes how to administer, score, and analyze the results of spelling inventories. This guide also discusses how to group students to monitor their growth within the program.

Assessment for Placement

The authors of the program believe that all effective instruction begins with assessment that tells us what students know, what they're missing, or what they're using incorrectly. In order to maximize their growth, students must be assessed so they can be properly placed. In Words Their Way: Word Study in Action, there are two options for placement. Students can be placed according to the spelling developmental stages or by specific grade level. The best option for the classroom is based on personal preference or district quidelines.

Developmental Placement

The professional development book Words Their Way: Word Study for Phonics, Vocabulary, and Spelling Instruction provides three generally leveled assessments, or spelling inventories, to help determine each student's developmental spelling stage. Knowledge of each student's stage will help with instructional planning and proper student placement.

Spelling Inventories

Words Their Way: Word Study for Phonics, Vocabulary, and Spelling Instruction has spelling inventories for primary, elementary, and upperlevel grades. They are found in Appendix A of this professional development text.

These spelling inventories are used to help group students by spelling developmental stage. They contain lists of words that were chosen to represent a variety of spelling features at increasing levels of difficulty. These features might include consonants, digraphs, blends, short vowels, and so forth. They relate directly to the stages of spelling development. The words in the spelling inventories are designed to demonstrate students' knowledge of these key spelling features at the different stages of spelling development.

APPENDIX A Assessment Materials General Directions for Administering the Inventories Students should not study the words in advance of testing. Assure students that they will not be graded on this activity, and that they will be helping you plan for their needs. Following is a possible introduction to the assessment. Lam going to ask you to spell some words. Spell them the best you can. Some of the words may be easy to spell; some may be difficult. When you do not know how to spell a word, spell it the best you can. Ask students to number their paper (or prepare a numbered paper for kindergarten or early first grade). Call each word aloud and repeat it. Say each word naturally, with-out emphasizing phonemes or syllables. Use it in a sentence, if necessary, to be sure stu-dents know the exact word. Sample sentences are provided along with the words. After administering the inventory, use a Feature Guide, Class Composite Form, and, if desired, a Spelling-by-Stage Classroom Organization Chart to complete your assessment. An Error Guide form is available on the Assessment CD-ROM. Scoring the Inventory Using the Feature Guides 1. Make a copy of the appropriate Feature Guide (PSI p. 267, ESI p. 271, USI p. 274) for each student. Draw a line under the last word called if you called fewer than the total number and adjust the possible total points at the bottom of each feature column. 2. Score the words by checking off the features spelled correctly that are listed in the cells to the left of each word. For example, if a student spells bed as bad, he gets a check in the initial b cell and the final d cell, but not for the short wowel. Write in the vowel used (a, in this case), but do not give any points for it. If a student spells larian as frame, she gets a check in the initial t cell and the final n cell, but not for the long vowel pattern. Write in the vowel pattern used (a-r in this case), but do not give any points for it. Put a check in the "Correct" column if the word is spelled correctly. Do not count reversed letters as errors but note them in the cells. If unnecessary letters are added, give the speller credit for what is correct (e.g., if bed unnecessary letters are added, give the speller credit for what is correct (e.g., if bed is spelled bede, the student still gets credit for representing the short vowel), but do not check "Correct" spelling. 3. Add the number of checks under each feature and across each word, double-checking the total score recorded in the last cell. Modify the ratios in the last row dependir on the number of words called aloud. Interpreting the Results of the Spelling Inventory Look down each feature column to determine instructional needs. Students who miss only one (or two, if the features sample 8 to 10 words) can go on to other Words Their Way: Word Study for Phonics, Vocabulary, and Spelling Instruction @ 2008 by Pearson Education, Inc.

The Primary Spelling Inventory, or PSI, can be used in kindergarten through third grade. The Upper-Level Spelling Inventory, or USI, can be used in upper elementary, middle school, high school, and postsecondary classrooms. If a school system wants to use the same inventory across all elementary grades, they can use the Elementary Spelling Inventory, or ESI. This surveys a range of spelling features throughout the elementary grades, specifically first through sixth grade.

Administering Spelling Inventories

These inventories are administered like traditional spelling tests, but there are some significant differences. Unlike traditional spelling tests, students should not study the words before the assessment. They should also be reassured that they are not graded on the activity.

To begin a spelling inventory, students are asked to number their paper. If students are in kindergarten or early first grade, teachers can prepare a numbered paper for students.

Each word is called aloud and repeated once. The words are spoken naturally, without emphasis on phonemes or syllables. If necessary, teachers can also use a sentence with the word in it to make sure the students know the exact word.

If students struggle with the inventory, teachers can administer a lower-level inventory. The inventory can be given to students as a whole group or in small groups. The results of the inventory can be used to get a general picture of each student's spelling development.

Scoring and Analyzing Results

Once the appropriate inventory has been administered, teachers need to set aside time to complete the feature guide for each student. These guides are found in Appendix A of Words Their Way: Word Study for Phonics, Vocabulary, and Spelling Instruction. The feature guide helps analyze and classify student errors, confirm the developmental stages, and pinpoint specific areas for instruction.

Forming Groups

Students can be grouped for instruction according to the spelling developmental stages or by specific grade level. Student groups can be further differentiated by the three additional stages within each developmental stage or grade level. These stages are early, middle, and late. The chart found in the Teacher Resource Guide in Levels K through C can help decide where to place each child in each grade level.

	Early	Middle	Late
Level K (On-level Grade K)	Drawing and scribbling for writing	Letters, numbers, and letter-like forms     Writing may wrap from right to left at the end of a line	Substitutions of letters that sound, feel, and look alike:     Bp, Db
Level A (On-level Grade 1)	<ul> <li>Letters based on point of articulation: J, JRF for drive</li> <li>Often long vowels by letter name</li> </ul>	Substitutions of letter name closest in point of articulation for short vowels     Some consonant blends and digraphs	Substitutions of common patterns for low frequency short vowels: COT for caught
Level B (On-level Grade 2)	Long vowel markers: SNAIK for snake, FELE for feel	<ul> <li>Long vowel markers: NITE for night</li> <li>Consonant patterns: SMOCK for smoke</li> <li>Inventive substitutions in frequent, unstressed syllable patterns: TEACHAUR for teacher</li> <li>-ed and other common inflections: MARCHT for marched, BATID for batted</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Low frequency long vowel words: HIEGHT for height</li> <li>-ed and other common inflections</li> <li>Common Latin suffixes are spelled phonetically: ATTENSHUN for attention</li> </ul>
Level C (On-level Grade 3)	<ul> <li>Consonant doubling: HOPING for hopping</li> <li>Long vowel patterns in accented syllable: PERAIDING or PERADDING for parading</li> <li>Reduced vowel in unaccented syllable: CIRCUL for circle</li> <li>Doubling and e drop: AMAZZING for amazing</li> </ul>	Some silent letters:     EMFASIZE for emphasize,     INDITEMENT for indictment	Some suffixes and prefixes:     ATTENSION for attention,     PERTEND for pretend     Vowel alternation in     derivationally related pairs:     COMPUSITION for     composition     Consonant alternations in     derivationally related pairs:     SPACIAL for spatial

Monitoring Student Growth

Groups in the program should be fluid and flexible, and student progress should be monitored regularly. Weekly assessments and Spell Checks are provided in each level of the program to monitor student progress. The Spell Checks are found in the back of the Word Study Notebook. Teachers can use the results of the Spell Checks to plan for individual or small-group instruction.

Review

This guide explained how to assess students for placement in Words Their Way: Word Study in Action. It described how to administer, score, and analyze the results of spelling inventories. The guide also discussed how to group students to monitor their growth within the program.
